Rockefeller Center Presents Paula Crown's EMANARE: An Interactive Multimedia Installation

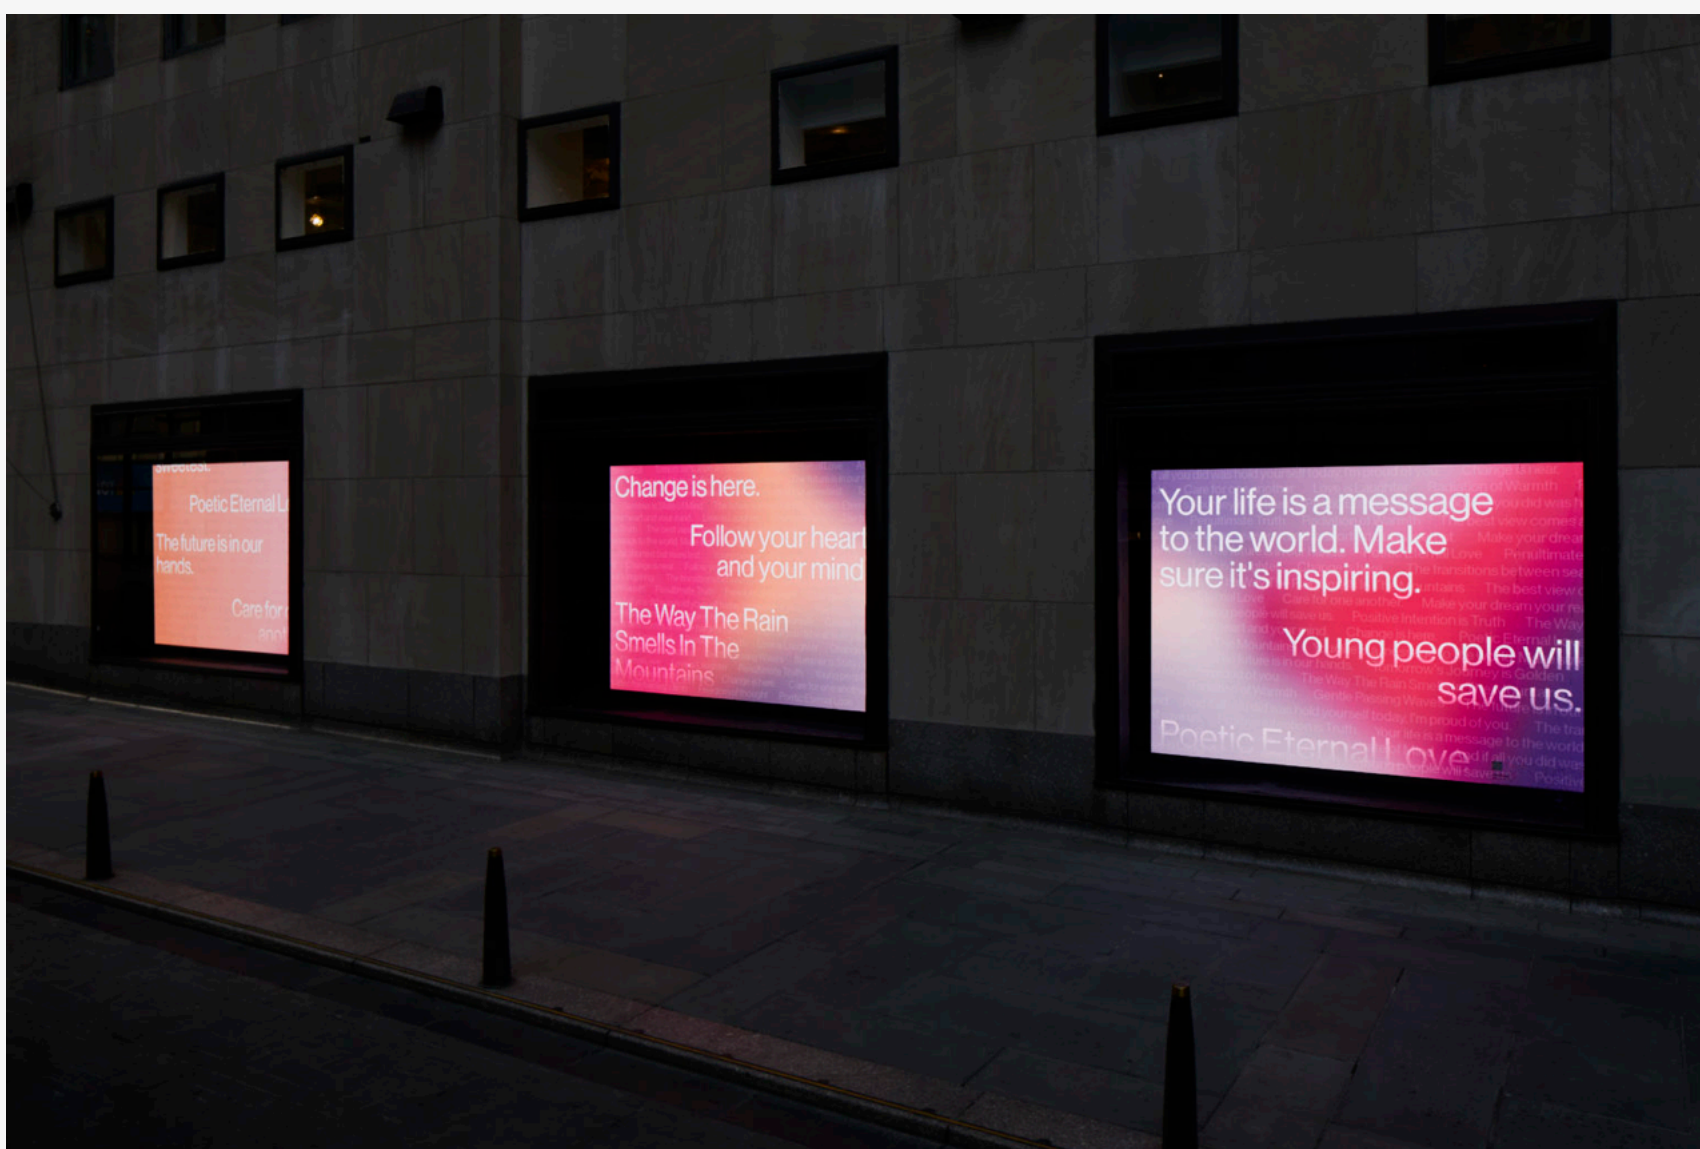

October 6 | Recurring Event (See all)

Rockefeller Center presents Paula Crown's EMANARE, a multimedia installation using LED screens to create an interactive art experience. The new installation will be on view in window displays at the Center's South Plaza (located on 48th Street between 5th – 6th Avenues).

Rockefeller Center visitors will scan a QR code with their phone, which opens the EMANARE website with a message submission form. As soon as their messages of hope, positivity and good intentions pass moderation, the messages are then transformed into the unique graphics and coloring Crown designed exclusively for the space.
